

ARGOS INVESTMENT MANAGERS changes its name to QUAERO Capital

Geneva, 28 October 2015 – Geneva-based asset management company Argos Investment Managers SA is changing its name to QUAERO Capital SA.

The rebranding is driven by the firm's continuing international expansion and a growing concern that its original name may lead to confusion with other businesses in the sector.

Founded in 2005 in Geneva, QUAERO Capital is a specialist investment management boutique that offers a range of actively managed, high-conviction funds with a commitment to fundamental research and original thinking. 'Quaero' – the Latin word for 'I research' or 'I seek', is consistent with that commitment.

QUAERO Capital is 100% employee owned. Its founding partners, Cristofer Gelli and Philip Best, were joined in 2011 by CEO Jean Keller and, in 2014, by Head of Development Thierry Callault.

Co-founder and Chairman Cristofer Gelli said today, "We are creating an environment where talented investment professionals work in a culture which promotes investment excellence. We believe that this is the key to delivering consistent and repeatable returns over the long term."

QUAERO Capital currently offers a range of 12 investment strategies, available through segregated mandates or through investment funds. These funds are incorporated into two umbrella SICAVs in Luxembourg (a UCITS Part I and a SIF). QUAERO Capital currently manages CHF 600 million with a staff of 27 in 4 locations across Europe (Geneva, Zurich, Paris and London).
